VERBAL RESUME / ELEVATOR PITCH

The Verbal Resume

Overview:

The Verbal Resume is a quick method (60 seconds or less) by which you can tell anyone about yourself. The Verbal Resume usually follows a general pattern:

1. A short bio;
2. Two of your best skills or experiences;
3. Finally, two of your finest personal traits.

Things to Remember:

- Take time to chat with the employer. What are their needs? How can he/she benefit from your message?
- Keep your script short so the person will listen. A short script will keep the listener's attention.
- Make your script easy to read, so you can memorize it or use it during your telephone conversations.
- Don't rush in the delivery of your verbal resume—you can say a lot in 60 seconds.
- Be friendly and confident. Communicate this confidence with a clear and pleasant voice.
- Remember, if you hesitate or sound unsure of yourself, there is the potential that the listener will interrupt your presentation.
- Don't use big words or fancy language thinking that it will make you sound important. It won't. It will only slow your delivery and affect your timing.

What to Expect:

Most conversations with potential employers or internship directors will flow in one of two directions:

1. The first direction could entail more questions about your experiences, skills and abilities (be ready to answer).
2. The second direction: "We don't have any job openings or internships for your degree area, but thank you for calling and introducing yourself." Here you should not give up! Ask if the person knows of a business that can use "someone who is energetic, punctual, and can be counted on to get the job done."
 - a. They may refer you to an exciting opportunity you had overlooked. If you get a company name, ask for a contact there. Then make a networking call using the name of the person who referred you.
 - b. Alternately, if this is said in a confident, energetic manner, the employer may reconsider and decide to meet with you.

Don't forget to send a thank you note to those contacts that successfully help you network yourself into a job or internship!

VERBAL RESUME / ELEVATOR PITCH

Sample Verbal Resume Script (approx. 45 seconds)

Hello, Mr./Ms. _____? My name is Sally Somebody.

I am completing a degree program in International Relations at San Francisco State University, which includes specific skill development in _____ (i.e., areas of focused class work within IR).

I also have experience and working knowledge of _____ (e.g., word processing, internet marketing, or a second language).

My teamwork experience includes _____. The project was successful and I learned how to use my knowledge to effectively _____.

I am energetic, punctual, and can be counted on to get the job done. (Feel free to use adjectives that reflect who you are in a positive way).

Would it be possible to get together and visit further about my skills and abilities? Is there a convenient time this week or next that we could meet for an informational interview?

Remember, your goal is to get an interview, not a job or internship (right now). Give the listener enough information so they will speak with you (more)! An internship or job opportunity might be right around the corner! Good luck.

Tips for a Successful Health Professions School Interview

Before the Interview

Aa Use capital and lowercase letters in your application and emails. Yes, there are people who don't do this. Don't be one of them.

If the school asks for a photo, send a nice, professional photo. Put on a suit jacket and stand in front of a solid background. Schools are not looking for creativity, just what you look like.

Edit your emails to the school well. Be sure you do not write the wrong school name in an email. Slow down and read before you hit send.

Follow every school's procedures. Do not ask for a deadline extension. If you missed their deadline, apply the next year.

Do not use the same essay for every supplemental application. Write each essay specific to that school, highlighting why you would be a good fit. That requires you to know a lot about that school to which you just applied.

Be kind, professional and appreciative when talking to anyone from the school. Being rude or hasty on the phone is not okay under any circumstance. They will make note in your application (your name will most likely appear on their caller id).

The Day of the Interview

Get to the location of your interview extra early. Give yourself to find parking, deal with luggage and use the restroom. Be early enough so you can sit, have a coffee and take a deep breath before the day starts.

You are always on. Always. From the moment you walk on campus, you are being judged. Be careful about what you say everywhere.

Put your phone away and talk to people around you. Lurking on your phone when in a social situation may send the message that you do not prefer to talk to people, which is not the image you want to portray at a school interview.

Come up with questions. Questions indicate interest, and you should be interested. Be sure to ask the right questions to the appropriate individuals.

Maintain eye contact.

If you struggle with eye contact, practice a lot before your interview.

Shake hands with everyone you meet. Assistants have a lot power in offices. Being rude or hasty is never okay. Make the best first impression you can.

Be flexible.

If the day doesn't go exactly as planned (an interviewer is late or doesn't show), it's okay. If you become overly stressed by an unplanned event, you are letting the admissions staff know how you handle stress.

After the Interview

Follow directions when it comes to follow-up communication. If they tell you they do not want thank you notes, do not send thank you notes. Most schools will be very clear how they want you to proceed. Listen to them.

Know which schools allow updates. If they allow updates, space your updates to avoid sending multiple messages in one month. Spread your communication out to remain consistent but not overwhelming.
